

Providing Physical Therapy in School Systems

IDEA (Individuals with Disabilities Education Act) mandates the education of children, 3-21 years old, who have a disability that interferes with their educational performance and their ability to benefit from their educational program.

Physical Therapists at Ramsey Rehab provide services to local school systems as a related service under IDEA to support the student's individualized education program (IEP). Interventions include teaching and training of family and education personnel as well as measurement and documentation of progress in order to help the student achieve his/her IEP goals and maximize their potential in the educational setting.

Often, physical therapists assist students in accessing school environments and maximally benefiting from their educational program.
